

Research Services

essayhave.com

Peas were used in food from ancient times. For example, pea seeds were discovered by archaeologists in the caves of the Bronze Age. At the same time, to say where the Motherland of Pea is located, no one can now. And now the main producers of peas are China and India. Only in two these countries are grown more than 80% of green peas in the world.

In Russia, the peas was known for many centuries ago. For example, it is mentioned in the Russian truth of the collection of ancient Russian law, which began to be drawn up in the era of the Board of Yaroslav Wise. In Russian truth, the peas are mentioned along with such popular cultures from us as rye, wheat, millet and oats.

In our country, especially in the northern provinces, there was even a holiday, which was called the peas of the day. Peas our ancestors considered the symbol of fertility, on a festive day it was made to treat each other with peas and wish prosperity. In 2012, the holiday of peas the day was revived in the ancient Russian city of Gorokhovets, which is currently part of the Vladimir region.

Is the name of the city with a popular plant from the legume family connected? There is no one here. There is an assumption that one of the founders of the city could be nickname pea, and his descendants were called Gorokhovtsy. The city itself was founded back in the XII century, on a large scale, peas in these places were not yet grown at that time.

King Pea Famous Character of Russian Folklore. It is believed that the rules he is in the old days. And in Gorokhovets and now you can see the house of the king of pea. This fabulous kingdom is located in the former Shorina Manor. The peas itself squeezes on the throne, and next to him is a retinue. In which, of course, there is a pea jester. And the main dish that offers visitors, pea porridge.

In different countries, attitudes towards pea also differed. For example, in England in the XVIII century, peas grown the poor on their small sections to feed the family. And in France, the peas served to the royal table. Very popular was peas and in Germany, where even a pea sausage was made of it.

Peas dishes are popular in different countries of the world. But even the lovers of pea have their own record holders. For example, a resident of Ginnes, Janet Harris, is listed in the Guinness British book, which in just one hour ate a huge number of peas 7175. Record achievement was registered in 1984. Interestingly, according to statistics, in the UK in the UK, about 9,000 peas are grown for each inhabitant. It turns out that Janet Harris ate almost an annual norm in one hour.

Residents of London are often called their famous fogs in a pea soup, for similarity in shades and dense. There were cases when thousands of people became victims of such a pea soup. For example, in December 1952, the capital of England was covered by a terrible fog, who kept a few days. The life of the city was practically paralyzed. The reason, according to the researchers, was the sulfur gas that came out of the pipes of industrial enterprises.

In the UK, according to the rules of etiquette, it is impossible to rush on the plug, or rush into a spoon, immediately many peas. Every pea need to first crush the fork and only then send to the mouth.

President of the United States of America in 1801-1809 Thomas Jefferson grown to 30 varieties of pea in his estate. And even spent the competition among his friends who will be the first to grow and gather the crop of pea.

In the story of the paustovsky, the Black Sea describes the case when the peas caused shipwreck. The ship Dnipro, transporting peas in the holds, stranded. The Dnieper could be saved, but the water was leaked in the bag, the peas quickly Nabuch and, literally, broke the steamer.

In the small English town of UURICH, since 1969, competitions in the shooting of peas are held. Participants of unusual competitions should get to the target by shooting the peas from the tube. There is one limitation of the length of the tube should not exceed 30.48 centimeters.

In the Czech Republic, newlyweds at the wedding it is customary to peel on peas. There is even such a sign how many peas will get stuck in the bride's wedding dress, so many children will then be in the family. And to the Russian bride and the bride even beat the pea voy. It was believed that this would be the key to wealth and marital loyalty.

Our ancestors had a lot to accept, according to which they tried to predict the crop of pea in this year. For example, it was believed that if there are many earrings on Osin, then the peas are good. And sow peas began with the arrival of the first caravals.

Peas are not only delicious, but also useful. Regular pea use improves the heart of the heart, reduces the likelihood of a heart attack and prevents the formation of thromboms. Those who constantly include it in their diet, the skin longer remains young.